

V4.0 PUNCH LIST

V4.0 PUNCH LIST — one step at a time, one choice at a time, and what each choice does to the next step

V3.0 hid choices inside steps. This one doesn't. Every step is one action. If the action contains a choice, the choice is named, the options are listed, the default is marked (the smallest correct one — take it unless you have a reason), and what it does to the next step is spelled out. Every step ends with Lost? → the one page to open. Nothing on this page is legal or tax advice; the state, the IRS and the lender decide — this is the order to ask them in.

Steps run strictly in order. Step N needs only step N-1. If you stop at any step, nothing below it has cost you anything.

Before step 1 — the one decision that shapes every step after it

Who owns the company on the day it's filed?

Option	What it means	What it does to steps 1-7
A • You alone, today (default)	A single-member LLC. You're the only owner and the only signer. Founders join later by a written amendment when they say yes.	Every filing below is yours to do this week. The operating agreement (step 6) includes one clause: new members may be admitted by written amendment . No waiting on anyone.
B • The founders from day one	A multi-member LLC — B.A., K.A., A.A. and you (or not you) as owners at filing.	Nothing below can be filed until all three have said yes in writing, agreed on percentages, and signed the operating agreement. The tax ID (step 5) names one "responsible party." The bank (step 7) needs every owner's ID. Weeks, not days.

Default: A. Reason a second-grader can check: the founders haven't said yes, and a company that exists can be handed to them; a company that doesn't exist can't be handed to anyone. Converting A to B later is a signed amendment and a bank form, not a new company.

Lost? → Utah — what an LLC is and how to form one

Part 1 — the company (steps 1-7, $81, one week)

1. Type "JOSHUA Holdings" into the state's name search. The choice inside it: none yet — this is only a look. Read the result: no match = free; match = taken. What it does to step 2: if taken, step 2 uses your backup name. Write a backup now (two words, no "Tesla," no "Uber," nothing that's someone else's brand). Done when: a screenshot of the result. Lost? → Utah business name search

2. Type "Last Ten Yards" into the same search. The choice: none — a look. This is the working name (the DBA) you'll file in step 4. What it does to step 4: taken → pick a different working name; the company name (step 3) doesn't change. Done when: a second screenshot. Lost? → same page as step 1.

3. File the LLC online. $59. The form asks six things. Four have no choice; two do. - Name: the one that was free in step 1. (no choice) - Principal address: your home address. (no choice — a P.O. box isn't allowed) - Registered agent: you, at your home address. (no choice worth paying for; a service is $50-150/yr and buys nothing yet) - Duration: perpetual.

(no choice) - Choice 1 — “member-managed” or “manager-managed.” Member-managed = the owners run it and sign. Manager-managed = a named manager runs it, owners don’t. Default: member-managed. What it does to steps 6 and 7: member-managed means the operating agreement is the short template and the bank lets the member sign. Manager-managed means the agreement has to name the manager and the bank wants that page. (When the founders take over and want you as chairman without authority, they’ll switch to manager-managed by amendment — that’s their step, later.) - Choice 2 — purpose. Write “any lawful purpose.” Default: exactly that. What it does: nothing — a narrow purpose only limits you later. Done when: the confirmation page, and the entity number shows in the name search the next business day. Lost? → Utah Division of Corporations — file online · fee list

4. File the DBA “Last Ten Yards” under the LLC. $22. The choice: none — the name was free in step 2. What it does to step 7: the bank can print “Last Ten Yards” on the account; the bars see that name. Done when: it appears under the LLC in the search. Lost? → Utah — DBA / assumed name

5. Get the company’s tax ID (EIN) from the IRS. $0, ten minutes. The form asks two things that look like choices and aren’t, for you: - “Type of entity”: LLC, one member. The IRS calls a one-owner LLC a “disregarded entity” — it means the company’s income goes on your personal return. (Default: leave it that way. The “S-corporation” box is a tax election for later, with an accountant, once there’s income.) - “Responsible party”: you, with your Social Security number. (no choice under option A) What it does to step 7: the bank won’t open an account without this letter. Done when: the IRS letter with the nine-digit number, saved as a PDF the moment it appears — it’s shown once. Lost? → IRS — apply for an EIN online

6. Sign the operating agreement. $0 (template) or $200-300 (attorney). The choice: template or attorney. Default: template now, because it’s a one-member company with no money in it yet; the attorney comes when the founders join (their amendment is the document that matters). Three lines it must contain, whichever way you go: (1) you are the sole member; (2) it’s member-managed; (3) new members may be admitted by written amendment signed by all members. Line 3 is what makes option A convertible to option B. What it does to step 7: the bank asks for this document. Done when: signed and dated, in the binder. Lost? → Utah — LLC basics \(operating agreement\)

7. Open the company’s bank account. The choice: which bank. Default: the one you already bank with — fastest, and it knows you. Bring: the filing (3), the DBA (4), the EIN letter (5), the operating agreement (6), your ID. What it does to the car (step 22): Andrea’s brake says her money doesn’t move until this account exists. This step is half the brake. Done when: a statement with the company’s name and EIN on it. Lost? → the bank’s “business checking — what to bring” page; every bank has one.

Part 2 — the nonprofit (steps 8–15, $334, two weeks; the IRS part is slow, start it first)

8. Ask three people to be the board — before filing, because the form asks for their names. The choice: who. Rules a second-grader can check: at least three; most of them unpaid; not all one family. Andrea can be one. The founders can be on it or not — it’s a separate board. What it does to step 10: their three names go on the filing. Done when: three signed one-line consent letters (“I agree to serve as a director of Ride at Closing Utah”). Lost? → Utah Nonprofits Association — starting a nonprofit

9. Type “Ride at Closing Utah” into the state’s name search. The choice: none — a look. Taken → backup name. Done when: screenshot. Lost? → Utah business name search

10. File the nonprofit corporation online, using the state’s template. $59. Two choices inside it: - Voting members — yes or no. “Members” here means people who vote for the board, like a club. Default: no members; the board runs it. What it does to step 11: no-members bylaws are one page shorter and nothing else changes. - Purpose clause. Use the one sentence: reduce impaired-driving deaths and injuries in Utah by making a safe ride reliably available at closing time, measured with the state. Plus the two sentences the IRS requires — the template has them (charitable purpose; assets go to another charity if it closes). Default: the template’s wording, untouched. What it does to step 14: the IRS reads these two sentences first; the template’s wording passes. Done when: it shows in the name search. Lost? → Utah — nonprofit corporations

11. Hold the first board meeting and sign the bylaws and a conflict-of-interest policy. The choice: none of substance — use a standard Utah nonprofit bylaws template with “no members.” The meeting votes on four things: adopt bylaws, adopt the conflict policy, name officers (president, secretary, treasurer — three people, can be the three directors), authorize the bank account and the IRS application. What it does to steps 13-14: the bank and the IRS both ask for the minutes. Done when: signed minutes. Lost? → IRS — sample conflict-of-interest policy \(Appendix A of the 1023 instructions\)

12. Get the nonprofit's EIN. $0. The choice: none — “nonprofit corporation,” responsible party = the president from step 11. Done when: the letter, saved as PDF. Lost? → same IRS page as step 5.

13. Open the nonprofit's bank account. The choice: same bank as step 7 or a different one. Default: same bank, separate account — never the company's account, never yours. Bring: filing (10), minutes (11), EIN (12), IDs of the signers. Done when: statement.

14. Apply to the IRS to be tax-exempt. The choice: short form (1023-EZ, $275) or long form (1023, $600). Take the IRS's eligibility worksheet; it decides. The two questions that matter for you: will it take in more than $50,000 a year in any of the next three years? will it own more than $250,000 in assets? Default: short form, because the nonprofit owns no car and no building — those are the company's. What it does to step 15 and to the grant later: short form = a letter in about 22 days for most filers; long form = about 191 days. No letter, no grant. Done when: the acknowledgment; then the determination letter. Lost? → IRS — Form 1023-EZ and the eligibility worksheet · IRS — Form 1023

15. Get the nonprofit's UEI at SAM.gov. $0. The choice: “UEI only” or “full registration.” Default: UEI only — that's all a sub-grantee of the state needs, and it takes minutes; full registration is for applying to the federal government directly, takes up to ten business days, and can be added later. Done when: the twelve-character number. Lost? → SAM.gov — get a Unique Entity ID

Part 3 — the evidence (steps 16–20, $0 and a tank of gas, thirty days; can overlap with Part 2)

16. Pull the county's crash numbers — already done; put the page in the binder. Salt Lake County, DUI = Y: 2023 → 366; 2024 → 380 (30 fatal); 145 of 380 between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m. The one choice: whether to add the Friday-Sunday cut by hand from the export. Default: yes, one hour, because the state's own window is Fri-Sun. Done when: the spreadsheet with the filters saved. Lost? → UDOT crash service — the 2024 count · UHSO crash data, and free help: Barbra Freeman 801-783-7250

17. Export the state's bar list and count bars per neighborhood. The choice: none. Open the state's live list, filter licence codes CL and LB, county = Salt Lake, export. What it does to step 20: the clusters tell you which ten bars to ask. Done when: a spreadsheet with a count per cluster. Lost? → DABS — licence information \(the live “Current UDABS Licenses” list is linked there\)

18. Send the Highway Safety Office one email. The choice: none — the draft exists (next_steps/2026-09-20/04). One question: what number would you accept as proof that a reliable ride at closing time worked? What it does to step 19: their reply is the yardstick; no reply in 30 days means step 19 waits and Andrea's brake stays on. Done when: sent, and their reply. Lost? → UHSO — contact · data: bafreeman@utah.gov · 801-965-4400

19. Turn the reply into one page and ask them to sign it. The choice: none of substance — the page has five lines: the before number (step 16), what we do, the after number they named, a comparison county, a report every three months. What it does to step 21: this signature is the other half of Andrea's brake, and the spine of the grant next year. Done when: signed. Lost? → the 2026 grant guide says what they want an application to carry (3–5 years of crash data, goals, an evaluation plan) — write the page in that shape: UHSO grant guide 2026

20. Ask ten bars; get two letters. The choice: which ten. Default: the ten nearest each other in the biggest cluster from step 17 — one route, one car. Done when: two signed one-line letters.

Part 4 — the car (steps 21–27; Andrea’s $50,000, released only after steps 7 and 19)

21. Sign Andrea’s note. Two choices inside it, and they’re the two that matter most on this page: - Whose name is on the car’s title. (a) The company’s, with Andrea holding a lien — she’s the lender, the car is her collateral. (b) Andrea’s, with the company renting the car from her monthly. Default: (a). What it does to steps 24–25: under (a) the company insures and registers the car and the for-hire licence is in the company’s name — clean for the city and for any lender later. Under (b) Andrea is the registered owner of a for-hire vehicle, which puts her name on the city’s paperwork and the insurance; it works, and it’s her exposure. - Interest and the date it comes back. Default: a simple rate she’d accept from a bank, and 36 months — long enough that the grant or a lender can replace it. The brake goes in as one sentence: no funds are released until the measurement agreement with the Utah Highway Safety Office is signed and the borrower’s bank account exists. And one more sentence, because Andrea is inside the founder family: the lender is related to a founder; the interest is a market rate; each member has seen this note. Done when: signed, in her binder. $200–400 attorney, or a promissory-note template. Lost? → the note is private paper, not a filing; any Utah attorney drafts one in an hour. The brake conditions are steps 7 and 19 of this page.

22. Get three quotes before buying anything: the car, the insurance, the connection. The choice: none yet — quotes are free. Ask for: a used car that can run six nights a week in winter (target $28,000–36,000); a $1.5 million for-hire (livery) policy in the company’s name; Starlink Roam. What it does to step 23: if the three add up to more than $50,000, stop and re-cut before any money moves. Done when: three numbers on one sheet. Lost? → Salt Lake City’s insurance requirement for cars for hire \(5.71.140\) · Starlink Roam plans

23. Buy the car; title it in the name from step 21. The choice: electric or gas; new or used. Default: used, whichever of the two has the lower cost per night on your quote — the job is six nights a week, not a badge. (Utah already allows self-driving cars; that’s a later car.) What it does to step 24: the title and bill of sale are what the DMV and the city need. Done when: bill of sale and title. Lost? → Utah DMV — commercial vehicle title and registration \(form TC-656\)

24. Bind the for-hire insurance from step 22. The choice: none — the quote you took. The company named as insured; if the city asks, the city named as additional insured. What it does to step 25: the city won’t register the car without it. Done when: the binder in hand.

25. Register the car and the company as a car-for-hire with Salt Lake City, and ask Midvale what it needs. The choice: register with Salt Lake City, or only the city you operate in. Default: Salt Lake City, because the bar clusters are there; the city runs car-for-hire licensing through its airport ground-transportation office even for cars that never go to the airport. The state’s “transportation network company” rule doesn’t apply — that’s for app companies that don’t own cars. What it does to step 26: the car gets its inspection, the driver a badge, and it’s legal to carry a paying rider. Done when: registration, inspection, badge. Lost? → SLC airport ground transportation — operating requirements · Utah TNC rule — who it covers

26. Put the Starlink Mini on the roof. The choice: which plan. Default: Roam 100 GB, $55/month — enough for a dispatch app and a log; upgrade if the log says so. Done when: it logs from I-80. Lost? → Starlink Roam

27. First night, at one of the two bars from step 20. The choice: none. Log: time out, time at the door, rides, time home, miles, cost. Done when: the first row of the log.

Part 5 — the proof (steps 28–30)

28. Ninety nights, six a week, every night logged. Done when: the log. 29. Report to the state every three months in the format of step 19. Done when: their number on their letterhead. 30. Andrea gets the same number the same day. Done when: she has it.
